Introduction

One of the many coroner's verdict delivered during the famine, in November 1847.

George Nixon, of Ballyjamesduff, surgeon, deposeth- I saw Catherine Mc Evoy alias Mullin about a month since last alive, when I examined the body of her son, on whom an inquest was holden, and whose death had been accelerated from destitution and exposure to the severity of the weather. I have examined the body of Catherine Mullin, find no marks of violence; the outer surface of the body bears evident marks of emaciation, and I am of the opinion that her death was accelerated from want of sufficient nutriment, and exposure to the inclemency of the severe weather, having had no covering to the hut, save a few branches. I am of the opinion that she had no inordinate appetite (which is a disease in itself), but that her craving for food, as stated in the evidence, was a result of the want of sufficient supply.

I am also of opinion, if immediate relief is not afforded her surviving child, he must immediately share the same fate of his mother and brother.

George Nixon.

Surgeon.

Verdict. - We find that Catherine Mullin (alias Mc Evoy), aged 43 years, was found dead in a hut the 23 rd of November 1847. We are of opinion that she died from want of sufficient nutriment and exposure to cold, and that her son, aged six years, will share the same fate except some relief be given him immediately.

John Macfadin.

Coroner.

The above extract, from 4 th and 5 th Series, State of the Unions and Workhouses, 1847-9¹, got me wondering if it would be possible to trace the people involved using the 1821 census and other sources. George Nixon (1900)², 3 years of age, is listed as the son of James Nixon (1898) Oldcastle Street in Ballyjamesduff in the 1821 census (see enclosed), James is listed as a Lieutenant living in a two story house with two female house servants and a male servant and labourer, obviously a well off gentleman. I wondered would my search reveal Catherine Mc Evoy's background, she was 17 in 1821, I was also hoping to find the whereabouts of my paternal great grandmother Eleanor Brady. I began my transcription of the parish of Castleraghan, from the returns in the National Archives Dublin, with these objectives.

The Census of Ireland 1821

The 1821 Census was considered the most accurate account yet taken of the population of Ireland. The returns were destroyed during the Civil War in 1922.

County Cavan has been more fortunate, since copies of the Returns for at least sixteen parishes have been preserved. These copies had been made by direction of the Cavan Grand Jury, and remained in the Courthouse of Cavan, where the present writer, accompanied by the late Rev Joseph B Meehan, collected and examined them. Shortly afterwards the copies were transferred to the reconstructed Public Records Office in Dublin 3 .

³Some years ago on my first visit to view the Returns I was given the original bound returns but now they are presented on microfilm.

The clarity of the entries for Castleraghan and for other parishes I have researched is in general excellent the only complaint I have is that at times the column showing the number of acres in each farm is not always visible.

Information on the 1821 Census⁴

In the instructions given to the enumerators they were told that they would be supplied with 'sufficient number of Note Books and Printed Forms to commence on 28 May 1821 and proceed therein from house to house, and from day to day, without wilful delay, until they had taken down the NAME, AGE and OCCUPATION of every individual then living within such district'. The Printed Form was divided into seven columns, the first column was for the number of the house the second the number of stories followed by name, age, occupation, a column giving the number of acres if it is a farm and the last for additional information.

Among the guidelines given were; a group of 20 or more houses was considered a village, 5 or more a hamlet, 2 or more acres qualified one to be a farmer, 'old' names were to be used for townlands with new names; strolling beggars are to be entered in the house in which they lodged last night. The list of occupations makes interesting reading, see below:

4 Jordan, Thomas E The Census of Ireland 1821-1911 Vol 1. Lewiston NY. (1998)

It is stated that this table applied to country districts, towns and cities would require a more extended form, and that many described, as 'Farmers' in Ireland would because of the size of their holdings be considered Labourers or Cottiers in Great Britain.

The section headed 'Preliminary Observations'⁵ covers such topics as, previous attempts to ascertain the population of Ireland, it lists many attempts from William Petty in 1672, he found a population of 1,320,000, the Heart-money collectors in 1754 counted 2,372,634 and in the incomplete Census of 1812 the population had reached 5,937,856. It deals with the Act setting up the 1821 census and points out that the origin of the Barony, as opposed to the Hundreds in England, came about from the time of De Lacey when he portioned out parts of the kingdom of Meath to his inferior Barons and these estates took the name baronies!

The various divisions of land, Parishes, Townlands and the less familiar Ploughlands Gort, Pottle, Ballyboe, Ballybeatch, Carron, Poll, Tagh and Gneeve are given and their approximate areas ranging from a Ballybeatach 960 'acres' to a Gneeve 5 'acres. The measures of Land in use in Ireland, the Irish or plantation acre, the Cunningham and the English acre varied in size.

The Enumerators were required to make a preliminary return to find if the persons appointed 'were possessed of the qualification for the undertaking', they were advised that the column containing Ages 'must prove a point of much delicacy' and were directed 'to decide according to the best information they could procure'. The Enumerators met with 'a determined hostility' in some districts but 'letters forwarded to the Resident Clergymen of every persuasion' and their aid requested. The information was entered into Note Books and transferred to the printed forms the returns were lodged in the Record Tower of Dublin Castle.

The Act had no 'provisions for obtaining Returns from the Officiating Minister of Churches and Chapels', as was the case in England. An appeal is made to the Prince Regent 'for the better regulation and preservation of Parish and other Registers of Births, Baptisms, Marriages and Burials'.

Castleraghan

The Barony of Castleraghan is bounded on the East by the barony of Clonchy and southern and south by the barony of Kells in the county of Meath, west by the baronie of Clonmoghlan in the County and north by the baronie of Loghtee.

And

The lands thereof are generally mountainous and healthy even upon arable lands (if suffered to lye untilld for any time) in most places, well provided for water and foewell of turfe.

As for wood there are none nott soe much as for wattles⁶.

'Castleraghan (Caisleán Raithin i.e. the castle of the little fort) was a stronghold of the O'Reilly's and contains one of the few moats in Breifne close by, and now in ruins, is the old Hospital'⁷. Castleraghan is the name of a Barony, a Parish and a Townland it is situated in County Cavan the only town is Ballyjamesduff. The Townlands as listed in the Census Books⁸; the Townland number is on left and the population on the right (page 7).

Ballyjamesduff has six streets, Stradone Street, Cavan Street, Dublin Street, Anne Street, Granard Street and Oldcastle Street, on the earliest map I can find c.1840, Cavan Street is not listed but I think it may be Market Street, Anne Street is now Main Street and was named in honour of Queen Anne.

The area in the Down Survey map compares well with the later 19th century map the spelling of the Townlands obviously varies, 'early surveyors had no Gaelic'⁹. In his explanation of the spellings O'Connell¹⁰ lists Townland (3) on the Down Survey map as Crosserule (Crossergoole) this appears to be the Townland Lurganlost in the 1821 Census and although he explains (Achunarran) (10) Aughanoran was a sub division of Cormeen he has no mention of Lurganlost, there is no mention of it on any map and I feel it may have been taken from the adjoining parish which is Lurgan hence Lurganlost! I have found the Townland Crossergoole in the Books of Survey and Distribution¹¹

The principle landlord was Lord Farnham his land included the townlands of Barconey, Carn, Cladagh, Cleggah, Cornacrieve, Crosserule (Deerpark-Lurganlost), Killefinla, Kilmore and Ramonin. Lord Farnham owned land-surrounding Ballyjamesduff but it was the Cumings family who 'were responsible for promoting much of the town's commercial activity' 12, they also built a market house in 1813, a landmark in Ballyjamesduff!

Henry G Sankey (4645) of Fort Frederick and Thomas Nugent (553) of Mount Prospect are both described as gentlemen farmers and landlords but most of their holdings appear to be in

Population

The total population according to the Abstract of Answers and Returns¹² was 5259 this was made up of 2646 males and 2613 female. I numbered every entry starting at 1 and ending at 5261 taking away the 14 uninhabited houses this gave a total population of 5247, 2645 males and 2602 females. The age profile consists of 1813 persons 12 years or under, over 12 and less than 60 at 3175. Those over 60 years only amount to 259 persons this is just less than 5% of the total according to the latest statistics the percentage is now almost 17% in County Cavan.¹³

From the graph above it is clear to see the way it tends to peak at certain ages 20,30,40,50,60 and 70 which indicates that the ages given should not be taken as very accurate. It is obvious from the number of children aged 1 or under (232) that the rate of infant mortality was very high, as it appears there are only 131 aged 5 years. A steep decline appears in the numbers from after the age 30.

The population of County Cavan in the 1821 Census was 195,000¹⁴ it is now 64,000¹⁵, it is difficult to imagine the numbers that existed in the conditions prevalent at that time. I presume the population of Castleraghan declined in much the same proportion, but the trend would appear to have changed in the last number of years and Ballyjamesduff is now on the commuter route to Dublin!

Occupations

The enumerator for the parish of Castleraghan was James Kellett¹⁶, he is described as “more thorough than most of his colleagues”¹⁷. He lists occupations for almost everyone over twelve years old and among the female population the number of ‘Spinners’, a huge 75% of the total. It was obviously a good source of extra income but according to Freeman¹⁸ after 1825, “domestic spinning and weaving did not survive in its fullest form”. A list of occupations are included in appendix i.

The main female occupations,

1. Spinner	1,398
2. House servant	209
3. Farmer	46
4. Shopkeeper	15
5. Mantua maker	6
6. Seamstress	10
7. Strolling beggar	3
8. Lace maker	1
9. Higler ¹⁹	1
10. Cook	1

The main male occupations,

1. Labourer	964
2. Farmer	451
3. Linen weaver	76
4. Shoemaker	16
5. Military	16
6. Tailor	13
7. Publican	9
8. Cow boy	9
9. Blacksmith	8
10. House servant	7

A total of 1,424 males were chiefly employed in agriculture; linen weavers, soldiers, shoemakers and tailors were the only other occupations of much importance.

Surnames

The number of surnames 409, this can be slightly reduced by taking in to account the slight variations in spellings, i.e. Monaghan, Monahan, Monahen and Sheradam, Sheradan, Sheridan, Sherorden and among several other examples Byars, Byers, but it seems rather large in a population of 5,426. A list of all the surnames can be found in appendix ii.

The following is a list of the ten most common surnames the number of each is on the right in italics,

1. Lynch	506
2. Reilly	405
3. Brady	252
4. Smyth	225
5. Farrelly	144
6. Monahan	106
7. Caffry	85
8. Keogan	80
9. McEnroe	74
10. Morrow	71

First names

The most frequent first name is Mary and among the male population John gets first place slightly ahead of Patrick, the top five names are shown below:

Names	Number	Names	Number
John	357	Mary	655
Patrick	350	Anne	353
James	342	Bridget	340
Thomas	266	Catherine	275
Michael	158	Margaret	232

Conclusion

My search for Eleanor Brady my maternal great grandmother was inconclusive, I found Ellenor Brady (3308) in The Townland of Cornakill described as a servant and 15 years of age as the firstborn of Luke and Eleanor was in 1826 she is a possibility but only that.

The only real information I have about Eleanor is her name in the Lurgan Parish Register, the fact that she is the wife of Luke and the mother of seven children born between 1826 and 1842. I have suspected that Eleanor's parents might be Charles (2947) and Bridget (2948) of Killicully they have four children aged 23, 21, 17 and 14 and I wonder if Eleanor might fit in at 19, but where is she? The only evidence I have is the fact that Luke and Eleanor's first daughter is Bridget (named after Eleanor's mother!) the second son is Carolan her fathers name.

Catherine McEvoy did not appear in the Parish of Castleraghan, while searching for a relative, in the adjoining Parish of Denn, Townland Lonogs I found the name Catherine McAvoy 14 years Flax spinner but again hardly conclusive!

The large number of families with the same surname in some Townlands would seem to support the fact that farms were divided among the members, in Cormadaduff there are 58 Farrelly's, 50 Reilly's and 48 Brady's. The family of Patrick and Mary Brady had twelve children between the ages of 19 and 2; they by the time of the Famine would be aged from 45 to 28 how would they cope? having 33 acres they were more fortunate than most!

Other information

I have maintained the spelling as it appears on the Census returns, it is difficult to distinguish 'a' from 'o' and 'i' from 'e' and in such cases I have used my best judgment.
Most houses are of one story and exceptions are noted under Other Information.
